Dear Valued Business Partner,

MIDI Labs, a pioneer in genomic research, is a contract laboratory that specializes in high-throughput microbial identification testing. We support a wide range of industries with research and discovery, environmental monitoring, lot release, and quality control testing services nationwide. As leaders in the field for over 25 years, we continue to expand the industry standards for genomic research, which began with our development of the Sherlock Microbial Identification System in 1985. We were instrumental in the development of DNA Sequencing, a brand-new identification method at its time. MIDI Labs was responsible for much of the database building and beta testing due to our extensive knowledge of taxonomy, identification techniques, and large culture collection. We have been cultivating our database since the beginning, and now MIDI Labs is proud to offer an extensive network of unparalleled identification tools. DNA Sequencing and MALDI-TOF provide a broad portfolio of libraries that deliver accurate, relevant, and reliable results to make confident decisions about product quality and contamination control.
